

SPEAKERS APPEAL FOR VETS' BUREAU

Col. R. I. Rees, assistant director of the Veterans' Bureau; Dr. L. B. Rogers, newly appointed executive officer of the Veterans' Bureau; and Watson B. Miller, department commander of American Legion, were the speakers at last night's meeting of the Lincoln Post of the American Legion at the University Club.

Col. Rees urged the bureau workers to seek the counsel of citizens' associations over the country in rehabilitation work.

Dr. Rogers spoke of his experiences in the Balkan war and the lessons in efficiency to be learned therefrom.

Growth of the post since its inception in February was pictured by Comdr. Watson. The post now numbers 150.

Music and recitations were contributed by the members present. Albert E. Haan, commander of the post, presided.

BOY SEVERELY HURT WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

Samuel Boyd, 15 years old, of 1755 Church street northwest, suffered a broken rib and severe abrasions to his back, legs and arms, when run down by a motor truck at Connecticut avenue and Jefferson place northwest yesterday.

Milk was spilled over Potomac and O streets when a dairy wagon driven by Elmer Hutchinson, 3214 N street northwest, was struck by a street car at the intersection.

150 in Entertainment.

More than 150 persons participated in an entertainment held in Old Naval Hospital, celebrating the third anniversary of the founding of the Robley D. Evans Post, American Legion, and the second anniversary of the founding of the Robley D. Evans Ladies Auxiliary, last night. Brief addresses were delivered by Commander Madison L. Hill and Past Commander Harry J. Davis.

GIRL, BUSINESSMAN, SALESMAN; HELP EDISON SOLVE PROBLEM

How Would You Land Prospective Customer Caught in Compromising Position?

Women of Washington are rushing to the aid of mere man with solutions to the question propounded by Thomas A. Edison as to the ethics a salesman would employ if he saw a prospective customer, who is married to a jealous wife, dining in a restaurant with a chorus girl.

Mrs. G. R. in a letter to the Jealous Wife Editor of The Herald declares that the salesman should have the prospective customer paged, apologize for interrupting his meal and for the necessity for leaving his companion but explain that he (the salesman) believes that the prospective customer's wife is in the hotel.

Order Might Result.

Persuade the prospective customer to excuse himself for important business and invite him to dine with you in another restaurant. Should he accept, an order must probably will result.

In a letter written by M. K. L., the wary salesman seeing his prospective customer in a seemingly compromising situation, would greet him with flattering approval, and would whisper his overwhelm-

WILBURN DEFENSE GETS SETBACK

Court Imposes Restriction on Blaming Mine Guard System for Riots.

CHARLES TOWN W. Va., June 15.—The defense of Rev. James E. Wilburn, Baptist preacher accused of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Deputy Sheriff John Gore in the mine riots at Blair last August, received a setback in a ruling of the court late today. The ruling while permitting Wilburn's attorneys to review the circumstances leading to the rioting so that a feeling of self-defense might be proved in favor of the pastor, restricted the extent to which the mine guard system might be held to blame.

Wilburn set up a plea of self-defense and asked an acquittal. He will go on the stand himself to testify he did not join the miners until his own home had been penetrated by a bullet from the Logan side; he will admit being with the murder party but will deny firing a single shot, and will swear the Gore party fired first.

The State referred to the defendant today as "the murderer" and the defense retaliated by calling the mine guards "thugs" until the court forbade further acrimony.

ERIN TO CONTROL DESTINIES FIRST TIME IN CENTURIES

The old members of the Dail on the regular panel, but he declared the regular or independent all parliament members elected would have to men willing to restrain their fighting inclinations to the greater interest of the country.

Exiles Return to Vote.

Numbers of Irishmen who had been exiled for years from the old so have returned to cast their votes and there was a large exodus tonight of Irishmen returning to their constituencies to make out ballots at place where they had registered. In some constituencies there have been no elections held in forty years due to the system of handpicked candidates by which party leaders of the old days avoided opposition in certain areas by naming only one nominee.

Little violence is expected in spite of the many independent candidates running. There have been no report of intimidation to date with the exception of a candidate who sported the finest red beard in all Ireland. He was visited at midnight in his Dublin home by masked men who subjected him to "barbarous treatment" by applying shears to his beard.

All Dublin tonight is busy discussing the new constitution.

There are 2,500,000 more children under ten years of age in the United States rural districts than in cities.

VISIT OF STINNES TO HAGUE MYSTERY

THE HAGUE, June 15.—Mystery surrounds the visiting visit of Hugo Stinnes to The Hague. The German magnate arrived in the morning, conferred with Dutch and other officials during the day and departed for Berlin this evening. He ducked reporters, leaving word that he was out, but he was seen calling on certain delegates and officials. It is believed his visit was in connection with Germany's interests in the Russian situation.

TEXACO GASOLINE

THE VOLATILE GAS

(Vol-atility: the readiness with which gasoline gives up its power)

Today, tomorrow; every day—in Maine or in Montana—no matter where or when you get it: Texaco Gasoline means the same full-powered motor for every gallon.

Texaco Gasoline, the volatile gas, is always volatile, always and everywhere uniform. Power maximum, mileage greater, up-keep lower, starting easier, pick-up quicker, idling smoother—these are yours at every pump marked TEXACO.

Texaco Motor Oils are full-bodied lubricants and are distinguished by their clean, clear, golden color. Light, medium, heavy and extra-heavy—they fit all cars and all conditions. You will find them wherever you see the Texaco red star.
